

ABSTRACT

The present invention relates to the use of N-substituted azaheterocyclic compounds or salts thereof, for the treatment of conditions related to angiogenesis.